Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

The Federation of Women's clubs last Saturday paid its respects to the memory of John Marshall. A large delegation of club members left the convention at the Capital and motored up to "Hangtown" and from there to Coloma, the place where in 1848 Marshall discovered gold in the mill race. A notable program, in which Mrs. Belle Douglas of this city, president of the Tri-County Unit of the Federation, extended greetings, was enjoyed. It is the menu of the luncheon served there, however, that attracts the masculine eye. One wonders.

There were Coon Hollow Pickles and Hangtown Tailings as an opening course. Marshall's Mulligan was apparently the main course, and it excites curiosity as to its authenticity. Was it a lineal descendant of the humble stew that the historic discoverer commonly ate? Vegetable a la '49 should not differ, except in variety, from that of today. Murphies from Mt. Murphy should have a special virtue. But Shirt Tail Bend Nuggets—what could those be. Were they doughnuts of some new and durable sort or golden macaroons?

Quartz Rocks does stagger the imagination. But Miner's Delight must surely have been a precious whiskey, 87 years old, stored in some forgotten, charred oak barrel and brought to light for this special occasion. Hank Monk's Rib Warmer—well—that really must have been a second glass from the same barrel. But we have a suspicion that the names are mischieviously misleading. The ladies were having their little joke.

We refuse to take our own or other peoples whiskers seriously, and one and all who read the Nugget are hereby advised that half the stuff printed in the Nugget regarding our citizens "bearded like the pard," is rank nonsense. We take this occasion to say so, because quite recently we heard the Nugget's whisker nonsense quoted as though the mock threats against dissenters, non-conformists and slick chins generally, were intended to bully the shaven into line. Nothing of the sort, please. The chairman of the Fourth of July committee Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce meeting issued a solemn assurance that coercion, psychological or physical, would not be tolerated.

As it is given us to see the light, the important thing is unity through out the county in putting on a celebration in Nevada City which will long be remembered. Argonaut clothes and whiskers will help to inculcate that spirit, in fact the whole mountain country is entering into the play and the fun. Rowdies and hoodlums, we are advised, will not be permitted to mar the good time and sport that is planned.

The Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to study and report upon a plan to concentrate in Nevada City all the giving to charity and other purposes throughout the year, in one big occasion. It has been suggested that the annual drive for such an annual outpouring to be known as the Community Chest, should open on Donation Day thus preserving one of the city's oldest and most revered activities.

Aside from the fact that one solicitation for funds follows another through the year, taxing the generosity of a comparatively few of the citizens, there is also the factor of time and shoe leather by the public spirited men and women who do the soliciting. Some citizens give both time and money to one or another drive for funds. If one big drive could accomplish the same result as five or six drives what a saving in time of busy, civic minded citizens, could be affected. Whether the plan of a community chest will be favorably received by the people of this city or not, is now a question. The committee, of which Mr. H. E. Kjorlie is chairman, solicits expressions of opinion on the matter.

Not all farmers are satisfied with the Federal government's benevolent attempts to lift them out of the depression by huge money grants. The farmers of a New Jersey community recently passed the following resolution:

"We, the undersigned farmers of West Amwell Township * * * declare that we will not be bribed to put the control of our farms at the disposal of the Government of the United States; and therefore solemnly pledge ourselves not to enter into the so-called "soil conservation" but actual vote-solicitation scheme of the new A.A.A., and hereby call upon our fellow farmers throughout the United States to join us in resisting this new attempt to control and regulate the lives of he American people."

Whiskerinos Of The Universe Dance At Olympia Sat. Night

Whiskernios from Sacramento, Auburn, Roseville, San Juan Ridge and Peardale will attend the Whiskerino dance tomorrow (Saturday) night at Lake Olympia, an event sponsored by the Whiskerinos of Nevada City and Grass Valley. It is promised that there will be the largest crowd in many a season at this dance. North San Juan especially cancelled their dance for this occasion and postponed it until the following Saturday night, May 30. The San Juan Ridge Whiskerinos are coming over in buses and in autos to attend this great reunion of beards.

The Whiskerinos Club No. 57 (varieties) invites everybody to come whether they wear beards or are clean shaven. Not only is every body welcome, but there will be cash prizes for the best '49 costume worn by a lady and for the finest set of whiskers. For the reddest whiskers and best 49er couple prizes will also be awarded.

Rollie Barton, acknowledged by all dancers to be "tops" in music will provide the music with his expert ten piece band. Whiskerino members who fail to appear will be offered the services of the two patrol wagons to bring them.

PIONEERS ROTARY GUESTS AT LUNCH FOR WHISKERINOS

Two veterans of early days in Yuba and Nevada counties were the guests of honor and speakers at yesterday's Rotary luncheon.

They were J. A. Carter born in North Columbia and W. H. Landrigan born in Yuba county in 1856. Both guests gave an entertaining account of the joys and hardships of the pioneer era in the mining communities

A new song to the tune of "Home on the Range" was sung and found great favor. The song follows:

WHISKERINOS ARE WE

Oh give me a hill
And the ring of a drill
In the rich gold ore in the ground,
And give me the gulch
Where the miners can sluice
And the bright yellow gold can be found.

Chorus

Whiskerinos are we,
Spirits of Forty-nine;
When Sutter found gold
A new land did unfold
And Whiskerinos came out West to mine.
United are we
Like the Musketeers three,
One for all, and all for one;
So come on, you mugs, sluice box robbers and thugs
Raise some whiskers and join in the fun.

VERNE SWEENEY ARRAIGNED

Verne Sweeney, who was arrested for allegedly passing a check on J. C. Penny Store in Grass Valley on Wednesday evening without having sufficient funds to cover it, had his arraignment in Judge Morehouses's city court yesterday afternoon. He will come up for a preliminary hearing at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

VETERAN MINING MAN CALLED BY GRIM REAPER

Mr. William Maguire, veteran mining man, who has been one of the staunch suporters of the gravel mining industry throughout his life, passed away just before noon Thursday, at his home in Nevada City. He had been ill for many months but the news of his passing spread over the city yesterday bringing many expressions of sympathy and regret in the passing of this rugged pioneer who had never known a day of illness except this, his last. Keen and ready for a joke he enjoyed life and his friends were legion. Mr. Maguire was born at Lowell Hill, eastern Nevada county, and celebrated his 75th birthday May 5.

He operated mines at Liberty Hill and in Trinity county, and still owned 600 acres of mining property at time of his death, in Nevada and Placer counties. Mr. Maguire stated recently he had known ups and downs in operating mines, but he always knew his property at Lowell Hill would bring him out, which it did.

He leaves to mourn his passing a devoted wife; a daughter, Mrs. Edna Meredith, son, William Maguire, Jr.; three grand children, Patricia and Nancy Maguire and Wilson Meredith, all of Oakland; two brothers, Barney Maguire, Lowell Hill, and Frank Maguire, of Mariposa and three nieces, Edna Maguire, Mill Valley; Mildred Maguire, Corte Madera; Mrs. Eileen Milburn, of Mariposa; nephew, Frank Maguire, Jr., Corte Madera; and cousin, William Mein of San Francisco.

The body is at Holmes Funeral Home and funeral arrangements will be made upon the arrival of relatives.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR LATE CHAS. EASTIN

Rev. Father O'Reilly conducted services yesterday afternoon in the Holmes Funeral Home Chapel for the late Charles E. Eastin son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Eastin. He died of pneumonia in San Francisco last Monday. Mr. Eastin was a native of Lowell Hill and resided for a time in Graniteville with his parents, later moving to Nevada City to reside in a home on the site where the W. Armstrong home now stands. Although a resident of San Francisco many years he will be remembered by many in Nevada City who were his school mates.

MARYSVILLE TALENT GIVE CLUB PROGRAM

The Nevada City Woman's Civic Club will hold its regular meeting at eight o'clock. The report of the delegate, Mrs. George Gildersleeve, to the state convention at Sacramento last week will be heard. Mrs. Belle Douglas will report on the "Play Day" held at Coloma Saturday.

The program chairman, Mrs. Walter Hawkins, has arranged a fine musical program to which each club member will be privileged to bring a guest. Mrs. Hawkins will present Mrs. Mary C. Miller of the Marysville Art Club and Northern California Music Association and Junior Philharmonic.

Mrs. Miller will talk on "Interesting Musical Topics" with illustrations by Junior Philharmonic members who will come from Marysville with her. Mrs. Miller is well known in musical circles and it is a great privilege to have her and the Junior Philharmonic members present this program to the club.

Frost Wednesday morning, May 20, nipped a number of delicate plants in Nevada City among them being dahlias. It lay white on the ground and bridges near Deer Creek.

SENIOR BALL TONIGHT GAY, COLORFUL, MERRY

One of the most colorful and outstanding social events of the year will take place this evening in Armory Hall when the members of the Class of 1936 of the Nevada City high school present their annual senior ball. Having planned a decorative theme calling for a spectacular display of colors, and having secured one of Rollie Barton's famous dance orchestras to be led by Barton, in person, the graduates rightly believe that the event this year should stand out among the senior balls that have been presented by various classes throughout the years.

The spacious hall in which the dance will be held will be brilliant with the multicolored lights which will hang from the balcony the length of the hall. Huge lanterns, a part of the Japanese garden theme, will alternate with the lights and will be used whenever soft illumination is needed to add the finished touch. Below the class numerals at the far end of the hall will rest the figure of an oriental god with thin spirals of incense at either side. Locust blossoms will be used to bring about the floral effect of a garden theme. The stand from which refreshments will be served will represent a tiny tea garden.

Patrons and patronesses who have been invited to attend have been named as follows: Mr. W. H. Polkinghorn, Mrs. Mary Warnecke, Mrs. Ella Austin, Mr. J. F. Colley, Mr. T. W. Richards, Mr. and Mrs C. E. Watters, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Libbey, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie.

No amount of intense effort has been spared to successfully display the ideas and color schemes of the class committees. Responsible for the decorations is the following committee: Elma Eden, chairman; Flossie Angove, Ray Steger, Arthur Elliott, Bob Schiffnerfi Ray Wilde, Peter Orzallia, Marjorie Masterson, and Catherine Glennon.

The reception committee will include the following: Bill Polkinghorn, Alberta Watters, Fern McClure, Cecelia Woods, and Peter Orzalli.

The strains of Rollie Barton's rythmic band will be heard from nine until one, the doors being opened at 8:30. Admission for dancers will be one dollar per couple, and for spectators, twenty five cents.

FIRE DESTROYS MINE BUILDINGS AT LUCKY JANE

Fire of undetermined origin, destroyed the bunk house, dry house and blacksmith shop, all under one big roof, at the Lucky Jane mine at North Bloomfield at 12 o'clock on Wednesday midnight. The clothes and personal belongings of those in the bunk houses and tools in the shop were a total loss, the fire gaining such headway no one could enter the building after the fire was discovered.

W. H. Taylor, owner and operator of the property was at the mine yesterday and it is understood work will be delayed at the property only about one day.

The tunnel is in 2200 feet at the Lucky Jane mine, the new company having driven 500 feet since taking the mine over a few months ago. It is understood the tunnel is to be extended another 1000 feet to contact a ledge of paying ore. Mr. C. E. Clark is superintendent of the Lucky Jane and nearby Relief Hill gravel properties both being operated by Mr. Taylor.

Men Employed in County Mines, 2499

Important developments in mining activity during the past month have been the transfer of the lease in the Gracey-Glencoe mine to a group of San Francisco investors, and the renewed interest displayed in mine properties to the south of the Idaho-Maryland.

While several mines, usually the small properties, have been closed or have suspended work temporarily but six other properties have resumed exploration or development during the month

The Omega mine in Willow Valley recently taken over by the Bradley interests reports extraction of good milling ore out of a 125 foot shaft. The property contains but a small acreage.

The total number of men employed in mining in the county has decreased slightly since last month's report, 2499 as compared with 2522.

KRAFT PROPERTY

Mr. Robert Smith of Alleghany has taken a bond and lease on the Kraft property which is near the Kenton mine. Mr. Smith plans to continue drifting on the ledge in the old tunnel. The Kraft property has been a heavy producer and shows promise of another good sized property on the production list for Alleghany and Sierra county.

BULLION PROPERTY

Harold Lynn, formerly with the Idaho-Maryland mines, is superintendent of the Bullion mine. A station is being cut on the 300 foot level in the Alaska mine, part of the Bullion property. The Alaska shaft was cleaned out and good ore encountered in the old workings. The mine has just been placed on a production basis, ore being treated at the Idaho-Maryland mill.

RISING SUN MINE

A concrete collar that required about 30 yards of concrete has just been completed for the Rising Sun mine which lies south of the Idaho-Maryland mine. Lumber arrived today for the headframe and ore bins which are to be built by Mr Bob Hathaway. Within the last few days the P. G. & E. company has repaired an electric line and power has been cut into the property. Mr. L. A. Hughes vice president and treasurer, of New York City, is at the mine and will remain at the property. Mr. E. E. Uren of Nevada City is the engineer.

GRASS VALLEY-CHICAGO CO.

The St. John mining ground and several adjoining claims totalling 230 acres lying north of Grass Valley were taken over by the Grass Valley-Chicago Gold Mining Company this week. The property has been in litigation for about 10 years a decision being rendered in the last few days. The ground adjoins the Rube Thomas tract recently acquired by the Grass Valley-Chicago Company. An old shaft on the St. John is 900 feet deep and good grade ore was mined from two ledges in the underground workings. The property has been closed 30 years due to small acreage and to the burning of the plant in early days.

RAGON MINE

Superintendent O. McCraney of the Ragon mine, states some ore is being mined for milling on the first level. The ledge at this depth is four feet in width. Stoping and drifting continue, the mine being worked on a three shift basis. Twenty two men are employed.

Our Prison Problem

(Contributed)

Few will argue the point that California's prison system has been permitted to lapse to the point of becoming a disgrace to the state. It is true there have been extenuating circumstances, what with depression, lack of money, and more numerous convictions for crime.

But excuses cannot alter the fact that we're coming smack up against a crisis in prison affairs that must be met with intelligent action. That is clearly apparent in the picture drawn by ex-Warden James B. Holohan of impossible conditions at San Quentin.

More than six thousand men packed like cattle in a place meant for 3,000! Thirty-nine men living on floor space the size of a small bungalow! And the whole huge prison a keg of restless dynamite.

Holohan, retired now after eight and a half years as warden, has presented a five-point plan for an adequate California system. His basic theory is that rehabilitation should be stressed, that the rotten apples should be separated from those only bruised, who might be regenerated.

First he would have prison farms for youthful first offenders, where they could work in the open and learn cleaner ways. He would limit San Quentin to 2,500 men. He would reserve Folsom only for the most incorrigible, dangerous criminals. He would have a separate institution for the criminally insane and feeble-minded. He would triple the number of men being rehabilitated in road camps.

Many will of course disagree in some way with the program. But no one will deny we must have a program, and soon. Every responsible citizen in the state should be putting in some serious thought on this prison problem.

Then And Now

(Contributed)

The current biennial budget of the State of California is greater than the amount spent by the state from the first year of statehood, 1850, to the beginning of the World War, 1914. During this period the combined expenditures of the state amounted to $414,452,000, while the 1935-37 budget amounts to $430,971,000. Thus the state now spends more in two years than it did in the first sixty four years of its history.

San Juan Capistrano Mission Founded 1776

When Father Junipero Serra founded Mission San Diego de Alcala, it was his fond dream that a chain of Franciscan stations, each a day's travel apart, would be established extending from San Diego to San Francisco.

It was due to his ambtion to fill in the gaps between the missions in San Diego, Los Angeles, San Luis Obispo, Monterey and San Francisco as rapidly as possible that the Mission San Juan Capistrano in Orange county was created in 1776. This mission is the third on El Camino Real, the ancient "King's Highway" but was the seventh of the twenty-one California missions founded by Father Serra and his brother friars.

Father Serra was in Monterey when, on August 10, 1776, he and Don Fernando Rivera, military commander, received from Viceroy Bucarel! in Mexico authorization to launch two more missions. It was agréed that one station should be between San Diego and San Gabriel Arcangel in Los Angeles near to a spot christened San Francisco Solano by Governor Gaspar de Portola, in 1769. This name was not given to the new mission because the various patron saints had been chosen by the viceroy and San Juan Capistrano was next in line for honor. Hence the seventh mission was named after this saint.

Fathers Fermin de Lasuen of San Carlos de Monterey and Gregorio Amurria of San Luis Obispo was appointed by Junipero to establish the new missionary center. Arriving at the site in advance of Father Aumrio, Lasuen erected an arbor, raised a large cross, blessed the ground and on October 30, 1775, offered up the first holy mass. Numerous Indians were present and welcomed the priest and his soldiers and set about helping to build a chapel.

On the same day that Father Amurrio arrived from San Gabriel with goods and cattle, word was received of the Indian massacre at San Diego de Alcala. Lieutenant Ortega fmmediately set out for San Diego with soldiers l,eaving a bodyguard with the fathers and urging them to make haste and follow him. Work was suspended, the two mission bells buried and with all movable goods on pack mules the two priests hurried south.

Due to obstacles placed in their way by Rivera, Fathers Lasuen and Amurrio remained idle in San Diego for almost a year. And then Viceroy Bucareli ordered that the Mission San Juan Capistrano be established as soon as possible. Highly elated, Father Serra, himself, at once set out for the abandoned site with a small party. Arriving there he found the cross still standing. He had the bells dug up, hung them in a tree and then rang them to announce to the Indians that the missionaries had returned. The natives appeared overjoyed, assisted in building an arbor and altar and on November 1, 1776, Father Serra offered up high mass. This date is accepted as the day on which Mission San Juan Capistrano was founded.

On December 19, seven weeks later, in a temporary chapel, Father Amurrio officiated at the baptizing of the first Indian child. The fathers proceeded rapidly with building construction, erecting a new chapel, concerning which Father Englehardt, mission historian, says:

"In the absence of all reports to the contrary, we may confidently assert that Father Serra officiated at Confirmations in 1778 and 1783 in the still existing chapel, which was the rear half of the present structure; and that, therefore, this chapel may glory in the distinction of being the only chapel or church in California in which the founder of the California missions celebrated holy mass and administered the Sacraments of Baptism and Confirmation."

On his farewell visit to the mission in October, 1783, a year before his death, Father Serra confirmed 221 persons.

In 1797, the mission fathers began construction of the most pretentious of all mission buildings. More than 1000 convert Indians lived at the mission at this time. The men were put to work bringing stones from the quarry for the structure. It is related that the Indian women and children wished to have a hand in the building and that they trudged to the quarry and back daily bringing pebbles and small stones in their aprons and hands.

WHISKERS WILL FEATURE DANCE, CAMPTONVILLE

Camptonville has been infested by the hairy Whiskerino germ. Bushes sprout on hitherto barren landscapes—the domination of men is once and forever attested to by the long and flowing facial locks of the stronger half of Camptonville. This rugged sister-city of Nevada City is giving a dance Saturday night on a Whiskerino motif. There will be three cash prizes for the best set of whiskers present at the dance. Whiskers will be judged by one judge from Camptonville, one from Nevada City and one from Forest. Music will be by Norman Foote's band and supper will be served to all who attend the dance, at midnight.

SCOUT CUBS TO HOLD FIELD DAY

Saturday afternoon, May 23 the Cubs of the Tahoe Area Council will attend a field day at the athletic field of the Placer Union high school. This is the second time the 9-10 and 11 year old boys registered as Cubs have gathered for an afternoon activity.

Cub Commissioner Fred Knudsen has planned Cub activities to start at 2:30 p. m., opening with a Cub Flag ceremony. A series of games will follow, each Pack bringing the necessary equipment for them. A feature of the program will be challenges of "feats of skill" by each Den in which each Den will challenge the other Dens to duplicate what they have demonstrated.

Cub Den Mothers will be addressed by Scout Executive Harris Ricksecker on Cubbing and the home. The meeting will close with a special Cub ceremony after a two hour program.

Cubmasters Tom Johnson, Cliff Merriam, D. A. Cristin, Glenn Baughman, R. J. Williams, R. H. Gates, and Ed Bennett will assist in the afternoon program.

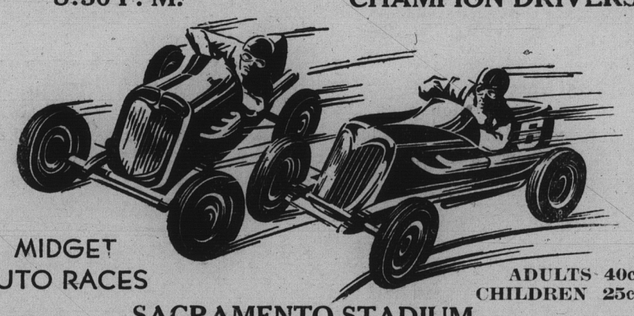

BACCALAUREATE SERMON SUNDAY TRINITY CHURCH

Baccalaureate services this year for the Class of 1936, Nevada City high school, will be held in the Trinity Episcopal church at 11 a. m. on next Sunday morning, May 24. As in former years, there will be a union service, Rev. Charles F. Washburn being assisted by Rev. H. H. Buckner of the Methodist church. Rev. Washburn will deliver the address of the morning, an inspirational sermon directed to the members of this year's graduating class.

Mrs. Johns, choir leader of Trinity church, has asked Mrs Libbey of the Nevada City high music department to assist in the music of the morning program. The chorus from the local high school will be present to render appropriate selections.

The entire class will attend in a unit, the central portion of the church being reserved for them. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

SCOUTS, 130 OF 'EM AT CAMPOREE ENJOY BIG TIME

The Scouts of the Tahoe Area Council set a record for future Camporees to shoot at when the annual patrol camporee was held last week end at the Nevada City Sik grounds in Nevada county. Better camping, equipment, spirit, cooperation and program were displayed at this the first "wilderness camporee". Nine minutes after the word to break camp was given, the first patrol reported to headquarters for ground and pack inspection.

Oscar A. Kirkham, associate regional scout executive, expressed keen interest and approval of the camp and program. He recounted personal experiences at the campfire Saturday night and conducted the usual Sunday morning scout law services and later spoke to the adults present on leadership.

Eighteen patrols brought 150 to camp. Each patrol was judged on packs, cooking and camp equipment, beds, troop and scout built equipment, patrol, organization, setting up camp, menus, preparation of food, fuel and fires, maintaining camp, special activities and thoroughness in closing camp. Each patrol participated in the campfire program. The following local patrols received ratings: Black Cat Troop, No. 6—C. Eagle Troop No. 6—A.

Rangers issued Tahoe National Forest fire permits to the patrols and checked as to necessary camping equipment to meet forest regulations. They also performed a number of other courtesies for the camporee.

The judges were, Van Court Warren, Phil Jordon, W. H. Seaver, J. Mooers, M. H. Ellestad, E. E. Gates, George Hauer, Eric Lund, Harris Paxton, Russ Seley, Sam Partridge and Fred Stephen. Eagle Scouts W. Hatch, Vincent Brundage, Ken Reynolds and Jack Gordon had charge of scout demonstrations. The camporee closed in record time with the patrols being presented the awards earned.

It is stated Mrs. LaMar Fleming and daughter, Mary LeMar Fleming of Southern California will move to the Fleming home on Boulder street about July 1, to remain until the first of the year when they will sail for the Philippine Islands where the husband and father, Mr. LeMar Fleming, is employed by a mining company.

Pencils

A pencil is a queerish thing—
Its hide is made of wood;
And how the lead is placed inside,
I've never understood.
Perchance men pour the substance in,
Mayhap they drive it through,
All explanations of the job,
I gladly leave to you.
A pencil in its salad days
Is trim and sleek and long,
But it grows shorter day by day,
Compounding prose or song.
It seems to lead a sorry life
No matter what its cost,
It peaks and pines, its point breaks off
And half the time it's lost.
A pencil is a servile thing—
In office, den and school,
It does the bidding of the wise
And labors for the fool.
Mine limps across a spotless page
And scribbles useless things;
It's brother in a poet's hand
A deathless sonnet sings.
Sometimes I'm angry with the thing—
My thoughts are drab and blue,
And then my pencil sharply says,
"Now don't blame me, it's you!
With proper guidance I could write
Some really worth while things,
With which to spur the jaded mind
And give the spirit wings."

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

NEW JUDGE TRIES HIS FIRST CASES

Judge J. M. Inman, who was recently made judge of the superior court of Sierra county, presided for the first time in the old courthouse in the Downieville court. He tried and found guilty on a second degree burglary count, Harry Clark of Loyalton. Clark was sentenced to an indeterminate one to fifteen year period at San Quentin, where he was taken by Sheriff W. D. Johnson.

William Queener and William Tyler were charged and found guilty of the possession of stolen goods. Queener, who is only fifteen years old, was sent home to his parents in the state of Washington, since this was his first offense, Tyler, eighteen was committed to Preston school of Industry for three years.

SCALES GRAVEL MINE

The Scales hydraulic mine in the Port Wine field 10 miles north of Downieville has an abundance of water for the first time since the mine was reopened about two years ago. It is reported to be producing heavily. Claims are that more than 70,000,000 cubic yards of paying gravel are vailable. About 11 miles of new flumes and ditches were built last year and powerful equipment installed. The Scales mining company is composed of New York capital.

NARROW GAUGE IS 60 YEARS OLD

The Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad celebrated its sixtieth birthday on Wednesday of this week. Its first birthday was a gala event of the county on May 20th, 1876, and that May 20th was a snowy day but the snow didn't seem to dampen the ardor of the celebration. The last spike was driven into the last tie by Dr. R. M. Hunt at the Nevada City terminal amidst a cheering crowd, music of a full brass band, the Nevada City fire department in full uniform and the uniformed Nevada City Light Guard. Mills and machine shop whistles blew and the artillery roared from the hills.

Judge Searls gave the congratulatory speech from the engine amid the cheers of the crowd which included many excursionists from the nearby town of Grass Valley. A grand inaugural railroad ball was held, given on May 25th, at Hamilton Hall under the auspices of the Mens C. S. Club. Tickets were $2.00.

The railroad went then as now from Nevada City, through Grass Valley to Colfax. Tickets for the round trip celebration excursion from Grass Valley were $2.50.

The sixtieth birthday of the railroad marks sixty years of service to the county. A service that has helped build the county and has marched along with its progress. Recently the railroad has added a trucking service with door to door collection and delivery.

Mr. W. Moke who resides about five miles south of Alleghany, is installing a gravel screen in order to start recovering gold from a channel on his property.

ARGONAUT COSTUMES ARE WINNING FAVOR

Mrs. Gene Hughes of Gene's Auto Court Grass Valley, dressed in a costume of 1786 visited Nevada City on Wednesday and created much interest in the odd, but pretty dress and hat. The hoop skirts, low neck bodice, and tiny flat hat with three large flowers, placed jauntily on one side of her head became her as an attractive brunette belle.

Mr. Hughes with high plug hat and swallow tail coat accompanied his wife to Nevada City last Saturday evening and very few recognized them. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes own mining property in Willow Valley east of this city.

Since the invitation was issued to all ladies to wear 49'er costumes by May 23 several are being made in Nevada City and Grass Valley in preparation for the Fourth. It is expected many ladies in costume will attend the Whiskerino dance at Lake Olympia Saturday evening.

Mr. Fenton Fleming and friend, Mr. Neilson, of Sacramento spent last Sunday visiting friends in Nevada City coming up in their new LaFayette car, Mr. Fleming is a native of this city and always enjoys a visit here.

HOLMES FUNERAL HOME NEW CHAPEL ARTISTIC MODERN

Resplendent in the beauty of Colonial architecture, the new funeral chapel and additions to the main floor of the Holmes Funeral Home in this city have reached completion. The new structure, an addition to the long established mortuary on Sacramento street, is one of the most modern of its kind in California. Its white fronting with green trim and its beautiful interior mark it as an outstanding addition to the city. Mr. Holmes has been the recipient of many congratulations for his enterprise in establishment of such a new and dignified place of business.

Work in constructing the chapel was handled entirely by local artisans, Howard Ross, local contractor, having had complete charge of the building and remodeling. The chapel is 55 feet in length, 25 feet in width and has a total seating capacity of 210 persons.

The interior is a splendid example of the Normandie style, with large hewn beams supporting and adding to the beauty of the structure. The front of the chapel opens into a chalice, with stained glass window of a Biblical nature, colorfully representing an appropriate background.

Rooms for both flowers and music have been constructed, the flower room having access to an elevator which connects it with the mortician's quarters.

Remodeling of the main floor of the home has also added to the attraction of the establishment. New lighting fixtures of a colonial nature have been installed and blend with the new tint work and the wall paper and carpet.

Mr. Holmes, known to his many friends as "Andy", has extended an invitation to all who might wish to visit the new chapel. A large number of citizens were present to inspect the new structure on its opening day, and it is expected that many others will be interested in viewing this beautiful mortuary establishment.

Lewis Elkus and Dick Lane of the Plaza Garage are having splendid luck trout fishing in the streams near Nevada City. Mr. Lane stated they get the limit each time they go fishing.

NOR. SAN JUAN TO GIVE ANOTHER POPULAR DANCE

A big surprise is in store for all those who attend the dance under the aspices of the San Juan Ridge Improvement League on Saturday night, May 30. The surprise will be in the character of the music and the personnel of the dance orchestra. Whiskerinos from far and near are, with their belles planning to follow up the big dance at Lake Olympia next Saturday night by attendance at the North San Juan dance on the following Saturday.

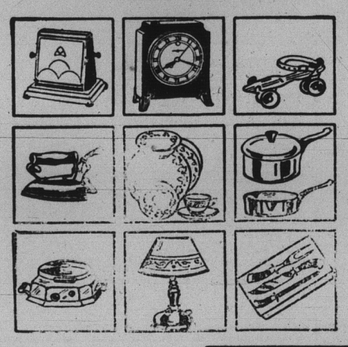

At the meeting of the San Juan League Wednesday night arrangements were further completed for the Cherry Carnival and Festival which will take place June 13 and 14. Arrangements have been made for the horse racing which was one of the features of the first Cherry Carnival held fifty years ago. E. Costello entered his horse "Strrwberry Roan" and Lloyd Dudley also entered his steed "Sparkplug" and other noted horsemen are grooming their nags for this exciting event. The race will duplicate the course run in the first carnival, that is from the old Irwin Musefield House in the suburbs of North San Juan to the Fire House No. 2 in the metropolitan center. The riders expect to be streamlined that is they will wear silk masks over their whiskers in order to give their coursers every air-flow advantage.

Mr. Roy Walsh of Washington was a Nevada City business visrtor yesterday.

FORD V-8 TRUCKS DO MORE WORK AT LESS COST . . .

because they have

RESERVE POWER AND EXTRA STRENGTH!

ON long or short hauls—up steep grades—through gravel or gumbo, Ford V-8 trucks have the reserve power to deliver their loads on schedule and no favors asked.

The mighty V-8 engine is conservatively rated by Ford at 80 horsepower—more than is needed for most work. And this is one of the main reasons for a Ford truck's economy. Because, with so much reserve power, the Ford V-8 does its work easier, with less effort. The engine operates efficiently and at low cost because it is usually below "peak." The whole truck, straight through to the rear axle, gives you longer life than would be possible with a relatively underpowered, over-worked unit.

And V-8 power is coupled with extra strength in the Ford truck . . . Frame, clutch, rear axle—in fact, the whole chassis, including springs, is ruggedly built to insure users the greatest possible freedom from servicing cost.

But the best way of all for you to learn for yourself exactly what a Ford V-8's reserve power and extra strength means, is to try it—on your own job—with your own loads, and check the results. Call your Ford Dealer today. He will lend you a 1936 Ford V-8 truck for an "on-the-job" test, without charge and without obligation.

A Second Before The Crash

HIGH FRESHMAN PROBLEMS TOPIC OF P.T.A. MEETING

The Nevada City High School Parent Teacher Association met at the high school, Monday evening, May 18. The subject for discussion was, "Problems of a high school Freshman."

Mr. Barron spoke of the mental, physical and social adjustments that a freshman must make, in changing from the grammar school to the high school. He has now a definite goal to attain, therefore he must study harder. He must learn to carry out his preparation program, and get his lessons during the study periods, rather than postponing the task until he gets home in the evening. One of the greatest lessons to be learned in the freshman year is the ability to overcome self-consciousness and fear.

Miss Jones mentioned the excess energy, typical of the freshman. The problem is to train him to use this energy to accomplish worthwhile things and "get places" He needs to learn to do the routine work as well as the tasks which arouse his interest.

Miss Peterson, director of the girl's physical education classes, said that she especially appreciated freshman energy in her work. She told of the plan to standardize costumes, and asked that parents of girls entering high school wait until fall to buy new outfits, when they may be bought through the school. If parents prefer to make themfi the pattern may be obtained from Miss Peterson.

Miss Tremaine suggested that if the freshman could remember to always bring a pencil and notebook to class, his chance for success would be much greater. He is graded not only on his ability, information learned, but also on his obedience to rules. His forgetting of the simple things asked of him definitely hurts his grades.

Miss Bartholomew told of the difficulty of languages for some pupils. Freshmen taking Spanish 1, should have a good foundation in English grammar, the ability to memorize, and should take it because they want to , not because their parents think it is a good thing to take.

She told also of the courses in clothing, in which the girls are taught how to launder clothing, how to budget and buy, and to plan wardrobes. A very interesting course is Related Arts, which takes up face and figure problems of the girls, and teaches etiquette.

Mrs. Harding reported a very profitable time at the convention. She said the outstanding theme of the convention was "Good Citizenship". Children must learn to give and take, and it is the duty of every parent to co-operate with the school in teaching them to "love thy neighbor as thyself."

Contributors to the High School P. T. A. food sale who have not obtained their dishes may secure them at Mrs. Harding's home on Coyote street, across from the Catholic church.

NATIVE SONS IN STATE DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

SANTA CRUZ, May 21.—An invitation to all native born Californians to become members of the Native Sons of the Golden West and help them perpetuate the romance of early California and keep the state in its present position as the leading commonwealth in America was extended by Hartley Russell, newly elected Grand President of the Order when he spoke yesterday afternoon to a large gathering of Native Sons and friends who attended the impressive installation ceremony that marked the close of the 59th annual Grand Parlor meeting held in Santa Cruz for the past four days.

Hartley Russell, prominent San Francisco tax attorney succeeded Harmon D. Skillin in the supreme office of Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West. Skillin is now Junior Past Grand President. Eldred L. Meyer of Santa Monica was yesterday installed as Grand First Vice President; Joseph J. McShane of San Francisco as Grand Second Vice President and John T. Regan, also of San Francisco as Grand Secretary.

The new Grand President in pointing out the innumerable interests which exist for every true Californian in the activities of the Native Sons of the Golden West, said.

"Although our order is essentially a fraternal body with close to 20,000 patriotic members it is much more than that. Few people really appreciate the broad scope of its benefitial services to the state of California, and still fewer yet know the joys and satisfactions derived by the men who take an active part in the order's program of service.

"The Native Sons of the Golden West have contributed much toward perpetuating the glamorous and romantic history of our commonwealth. For one thing, the order has spent close to $100,000 in granting fellowships to deserving students of the University of California in order that they might search the four corners of the globe to perfect the first hand history of California.

"Few people know that the Native Sons of the Golden West each year erect countless landmarks throughout the state, depicting historical events and places that might otherwise be unnoticed.

"The outstanding charitable endeavor, among a number of them, the providing of homes and foster parents for homeless babies in California. The Native Sons have joined with the Native Daughters of the Golden West in maintaining a homeless children bureau which cares for all babies regardless of their race, color or creed. Both organizations have spent over a half million dollars in finding suitable homes for some 4,700 babies.

"Not only do the Native Sons help to keep alive California history through research, landmarks, and annual historical celebrations but they take a decided part in present day problems effecting the future welfare of California. Committees are continually proposing and studying legislation which has a vital effect upon the welfare of our state.

"It is a significant fact that more new members were initiated into the Native Sons of the Golden West last year than for several years prior thereto. This not only reflects improved business ronditions, but shows that the order is carrying on a worthy and interest sustaining program."

The new Grand President, Hartley Russell is a member of Stanford Parlor, No. 76. He is the son of the late Steven D. Russell of the San Frandisco fire department, who was killed in a fire during the year 1917. As a tax attorney he is reputed to be one of the foremost authorities on federal and state taxation. He secured his L. L. B. degree from the Pacific College of Law.

The 20,000 Native Sons of the Golden West are active in 145 local parlors throughout the state. These desiring further information concerning the order should apply either to a local parlor or the Grand Secretary at 414 Mason street, San Francisco.

CROSS CUT TO TAP NEW LEDGE IN HOGE MINE

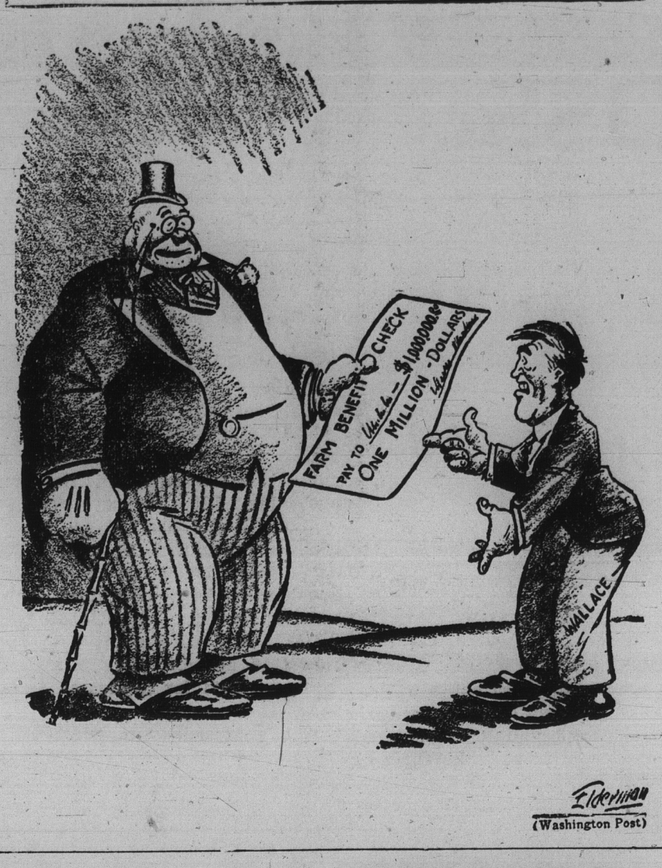

Arthur M. Hoge, the manager of the Great Northern Gold Mines, Inc. and what is generally known as the Hoge Mine, states that they are at the present time driving a cross-cut on the 300 foot level for the purpose of contacting the new ledge that was discovered from their operations through the original pilot shaft on the upper level and which showed exceptionally good values both in the way of sulphides and free gold.

They expect to reach their objective within the next week or ten days and if the ledge shows up as well on the 300 level as it did on the upper level, they will then start production from the 300 foot level and at the same time, start work on opening the same up from the still deeper levels.

Mr. Hoge also states that plans are well underway whereby they expect to materially enlarge their operations at an early date and to open up new ore bodies in the foot wall country and in the hanging wall country that are known to exist and which have so far never been touched and that when this work is accomplished, they will get this operation back into full time profitable production as the average values of all ore so far developed has been in excess of $20 per ton.

SORENSEN GRAVEL PROPERTY

Louie Sorensen of French Corral has rigged up one of the neatest and most complete little gold recovery outfits to be found in this section. He is using water that runs into a sump after being used by another company. A raft has been built, and mounted on it a centrifugal pump. He has 350 feet of fire hose with a nozzle. Mr. Sorensen tears down quantities of gravel which is run through sluices to recover coarse gold and nuggets.

AETNA MINE

Retimbering the 200 foot deep shaft at the Aetna mine west of Nevada City started yesterday. It is reported good ore was opened up in a winze in a drift several weeks ago. The property is still under option to John Bardill, former operator of the Frederic mine in Willow Valley.

SAN JUAN MISSION

The neophytes were taught weaving, carpentering and other trades as well as agricultural pursuits, and construction of the magnificent mission temple progressed steadily. It was completed October 18, 1806. Meanwhile numerous adobe houses had been built for the Indians and their families. Old records show that in 1809 the fathers had constructed an equeduct to bring water to the mission. By 1812 the mission was prospering wonderfully. And then an evil fate undid the labor of years.

On the morning of December 8, 1812, while early mass was being held, a terrific earthquake hit San Juan Capistrano, levelling the beautiful new church that had been nine years in the making and killing forty Indian worshipers. There were only six survivors.

Except for removal of debris and necessary repairs, the heartbroken mission fathers undertook no rebuilding until 1814. In 1818 they suffered another tragedy when two Argentine privateers seized Monterey, demanded that the Californians renounce Spain and join the Argentine revolutionists, looted the place and then landed at San Juan Capistrano where they sacked the mission and burned some buildings.

As early as June, 1821, friction developed between the military and civil authorities and the fathers of San Juan Capistrano. Repeated demands for cash and the products of the mission fields were made by the civil government and the priests came to feel, and quite justly, it would seem, that they and their Indian charges were being imposed upon.

Their troubles increased with the coming of Jose M. Echeandia, the first native Mexican to become governor of California. One of Echeandia's first acts was to order Fathers Barona and Zalvidea of San Juan Capistrano to swear allegiance to the new constitution of the Federal States of Mexico. This the priests, both of whom had taken the oath of the Independence of Mexico from Spain refused to do, as did nearly all the Franciscan missionaries.

An avowed enemy of the priests, Echaendia set to work to destroy San Juan Capistrano mission. On July 25, 1826, he issued a proclamation emancipating the mission Indians in California. This action proved disastrous to the San Juan Capistrano natives. They became shiftless and disorderly T.he governor and his political associates had their eyes on the mission lands and cared not what became of the mission converts.

Political upheavals, which resulted in the ousting of Echeandia and his return to power after a successful revolt against Governor Victoria added to the woes of the mission fathers. In 1833 Governor Figueroa emancipated all the Indians at San Juan Capistrano. He followed this by confiscating all mission lands, part of which was divided among the neophytes and the remainder granted to friends. A mayordomo took charge of the mission. Aged Father Zalvidea, ill and grief stricken, remained to be near his converts.

Through successive governmental regimes, San Juan Capistrano continued its decline and in June, 1841 the Indian community was dissolved and most of their lands divided among settlers. The mission became a pueblo by official decree. Father Zalvidea departed for San Luis Rey about the end of 1842 and for four years there was no resident priest at San Juan Capistrano.

The mission came to an end on December 4, 1845, when it was sold at public auction by Governor Pio Pico to John Forster, his brother-in-law, and James McKinley. On July 7, 1846, the American flag was raised at Monterey, thirteen years too late to serve San Juan Capistrano and the other missions, San Juan Capistrano was returned to the Catholic church by President Abraham Lincoln on March 18, 1865.

Over a period of 60 years, Mission San Juan Capistrano known as the "Jewel of the Missions", crumbled into ruins. Its restoration to its present day beauty was started in 1895 by Charles F. Lummis and the Landmarks Club, which he founded, and was completed by Father St. John O'Sullivan, beloved pastor of the mission.

Mission San Juan Capistrano is in Orange county almost midway between San Diego and Los Angeles. It is approximately 70 miles from San Diego on El Camino Real, the main state highway. Mission visitors travelling north from Mission San Luis Rey, second in the chain of Franciscan stations stretching from San Diego to Sonoma, leave the charming city of Oceanside and proceed 29 miles to San Juan Capistrano, passing through Serra, named in honor of Father Junipero.

The mission is 23 miles south of Santa Ana, county seat of Orange. Leaving this city, the mission motorist enroute to San Juan Capistrano passes through Tustin and Irvine. centers of an amazingly beautiful and wealthy citrus district. At the mission flowers bloom the year 'round in the garden surrounding the cloisters and the bells of the Campanaria daily peal forth the Angelus and call the faithful to holy mass.

Next: Mission San Gabriel Arcangel.

MORE JOBS FOR COLLEGE GRADS

BERKELEY, May 21.—Not only have the job possibilities of University of California graduates increased 100 per cent over last year, but the demand for college and university graduates in all parts of the country has experienced a pickup ranging all the way from 20 to 100 per cent. Starting salaries are also up from $5 to $20 over the June, 1935 figures. These facts have just been made public by Miss Vera Christie, manager of the University's Bureau of Occupations.

The Universities of Oregon, Washington and Southern California report a demand for capable graduates averaging 100 per cent over last year, with the demand for certain groups greater than the supply. The demand is particularly heavy in the South with the Louisiana State University, favorite educational institution of the late Senator Huey Long reporting approximately four times as many calls for graduates as last year.

The unprecedented stimulus in building, which extends through the so-called "heavy industries," such as concrete, timber, iron and steel, is making a sharply increased demand on engineering and technical institutions. Marketing and sales offer the most numerous openings, and the demand for accountants has sharply increased. Insurance, investment and finance companies, manufacturing offices, oil companies, the rubber companies and makers of business machines are matriculating greatly increased numbers of graduates, according to one report by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company to Miss Christie.

The University of Pittsburgh reports that it is not only endeavoring to meet an increased demand for 1936 graduates, but has been able to place a number of 1934 and 1935 graduates who had not been previously located.

Miss Christie reports one circumstance which may or may not have an effect on the employment situation In some instances inquiring employers do not take the students recommended but seek employes elsewhere, indicating that some "shopping around" is being done for the best available talent.
